

Washington, DC – This week, Congressman Harry Teague met with Jennifer Ober, the winner of the 2010 Congressional Art Competition for New Mexico's 2nd District. Ober, of Los Lunas, toured the Capitol and viewed her artwork, "Enchantment", which is on display in the U.S. Capitol.

An unprecedented number of students participated in the Congressional Art Competition this year. In addition to the official competition, Teague hosted an "online favorite" competition, that drew over 1600 votes. Ober's piece, "Enchantment" won both contests. For her achievements, she received a flag flown over the Capitol in addition to a free trip to the Capitol for the unveiling ceremony.
